

E-reward's latest research into women's representation on UK boards extends our analysis to SmallCap and AIM firms for the first time.

E-reward's research shows that the proportion of female CEOs is even lower in UK's smaller listed companies than in the FTSE 350. Here are the key findings from our analysis of 1,200 executive and non-executive directors in FTSE 100, SmallCap and AIM companies (using data collected for E-reward's Executive Database).
